

Bath

Hot Topics: Big Builder | Slideshows | App Center | Builder 100 | New American Home 2013

Services: Builder TV | Webinars | Blogs | Jobs | Education

From: BUILDER June 2013 | Posted on: June 18, 2013
2013 Watermark Awards

Baileyana Powder Room, Hillsborough, Calif.

By Amy Albert

Be the first to comment Be the first to comment

Share

Credit: Andre Bernard

Bold wall tile, a stone sink, and a simple wall-mounted fixture might not work in a bigger or busier bath, but here, they pack a visual punch.

This Merit award-winning powder room presents the obvious small-space challenges -- but it also offers opportunities. This tucked-away, hard-working room is the perfect chance to use interesting materials, bold colors, and unusual fixtures. It's just the place for finishings that might be overkill in a larger space or impractical in a bath that sees heavy use. The Baileyana powder room occupies its 32 square feet with an accomplished mix of elements—hexagonal wall tile, oval stone sink, walnut cabinets, simple wall fixtures--and does so with a sense of fun, riffing on the Mediterranean architectural style of the house.

Credit: Andre Bernard

A wall to wall vanity houses below-counter storage. The oval stone sink is generously sized.

Project Credits

Award Merit

Category Powder Room in a Remodeled Home

Project Baileyana Powder Room, Hillsborough, Calif.

Entrant/Architect/Interior Designer TRG Architects, Burlingame, Calif. trgarch.com

Builder Allwood Construction, San Carlos, Calif. allwoodconstruction.net

Learn more about markets featured in this article: San Francisco, CA.

